

Parenting . . . It's one tough job

Talk about how you feel when someone smiles at you Interact with your child through conversation, eye contact and facial expressions

Read a book together or visit a local library

Act as a positive role model for your child

Play a game that builds on curiosity, such as "I Spy" Understand your child's ages/stages and provide appropriate activities

Cook with your child. Let them measure ingredients with you Catch your child being good and offer praise. Use positive words.

Draw your own family fun activity!
